PEACE PROPOSAL IS REJECTED BY RUSSIAN COUNCIL

Workmen's and Soldiers' Delegates Opposed to Terminating War Now

ALLIES CONTINUE TO STAND FIRM

Washington Still Without Official Word as to When Proffer Received

(By Agency Radio to I. N. S.)
Petrograd, Aug. 16.—"It is impossible to terminate hostilities immediately because that would entail a separate peace with Germany, a thing against which all parties protest."
This declaration was contained in a statement from the Council of Workmen's and Soldiers' delegates today. It added: "The sole means of ending the war is through international socialist entente."

(International News Service.)
Washington, Aug. 16.—Secretary Lansing at this morning's conference with newspaper men said that he had received no information as to when the proposal of Pope Benedict will be delivered to the United States. He stated that he had no official word whatever as to how the message was to be delivered or from what source it is expected. It is to be made the subject of a general cabinet conference, and until then no official statement will be forthcoming.

(International News Service.)
London, Aug. 16.—That a negative reply will be the allies' response to the peace proposal of Pope Benedict has been made almost certain by developments of the past 24 hours. The belief that the proffer was inspired by the central powers has grown rather than diminished since the proposals were made to the belligerent nations.

STORMY GOING FOR REVENUE BILL

PROFIT TAXING FOR WAR PURPOSES BRINGS ON SENATE FIGHT.

(International News Service.)
Washington, Aug. 16.—The $2,000,000,000 revenue bill began to encounter stormy going today when it ran afoul of strong opposition to the finance committee's tax upon excess profits.

The opposition launched by Senator LaFollette in the presentation of the minority report Monday has gained numerous recruits from among senators who believe wealth should pay a bigger share of this year's war bill, now estimated at $17,000,000,000.

The senate finance committee has made it plain that it is not averse to the principle of taxing profits to the limit, but it takes the view that it would be an unwise policy to tax them to death in the first year of the war and thus destroy a future reservoir of revenue.

Government On Trail of I. W. W. Plotters

(International News Service.)

Washington, Aug. 16.—Orders went forward from the department of justice today to district attorneys in Oregon, Washington, Montana, California, Idaho, Arizona and New Mexico to go after the I. W. The troubles have passed beyond the stage of labor troubles and have become a serious menace, it was announced.

CAPT. WERT GOES TO FT. SILL, OKLA.

LEAVES TONIGHT FOR NEW POST. DAN BULLARD GETS COMMISSION.

Judge Thos. W. Wert has returned from the officers' reserve training camp at Ft. McPherson, where he was commissioned a captain of cavalry. He has been ordered to report to Ft. Sill, Oklahoma, next Sunday, and will leave tonight in order to be there by that time.

Captain Wert will take up the study of machine guns at Ft. Sill, after which he does not know whether he will be assigned duty to train others the intricacies of machine guns, or sent direct to France. Judge Wert was the only student not already a military man, who landed a captain's place.

Dan R. Bullard, who has been awarded a second lieutenantancy in the regular army as a result of his training at Ft. Logan, Ark., is here for a few days, visiting old friends. He will report to El Paso, Texas, on Aug. 29, where he will be a lieutenant in the Sixty-Fourth United States infantry. He said there were 30 Alabama boys at Ft. Logan and 29 were given commissions. Included among these was Joe Cornish.

Other local boys who were given commissions at the various training camps had not arrived home at noon today. They will probably arrive this afternoon or tonight.

Hoover is Gunning for Meat Prices

Food Controller Will Bring Them Down to Reasonable Limits.

(International News Service.)

Washington, Aug. 16.—The constantly soaring prices of meat and products must come down. Food Controller Hoover will take this matter up immediately, it was stated today.

Having the wheat situation well in hand and substantial progress made on the plan to get the price of flour down around the $10 mark, the food administration now will have time to consider how to meet the meat problem. Investigators for the department are now busy on cost figures.

SPANISH TROOPS FIRE ON STRIKERS

DISORDERS IN CATALONIA TAKE ON REVOLUTIONARY TREND.

(By Agency Radio to I. N. S.)

Madrid, Aug. 16.—Anarchistic disorders have broken out here and in other Spanish cities in connection with the general strike. Premier Dato in discussing the situation said that the nature of the disturbance clearly demonstrates that the government has to deal with an anarchistic movement. "Whoever helps the government," said the premier, "does a patriotic service."

Strikers who attempted to invade Puerta Sol were dispersed and driven from the center of the city.

(International News Service.)

Paris, Aug. 16.—Strike disorders in the Spanish province of Catalonia have taken on a revolutionary trend, said a dispatch from the frontier today. Serious clashes in which a number of persons were killed were reported from Barcelona. Troops use cannon and guns to quell the disorders. Premier Dato is confident that the general strike will shortly collapse.

(By Agency Radio to I. N. S.)

Madrid, Aug. 16.—To assure the newspapers, the minister of war has offered to lend to the owners the printers who have been mobilized for military duty. Steps are being taken by the minister of interior to prevent the strike from spreading to the street railway employees. At Saragosa and Barcelona, the authorities are taking stern measures to put down disorder.

DENY AMERICAN TROOPS ACTIVE

WAR DEPARTMENT REPUDIATES BRITISH REPORT OF 200 WOUNDED.

(International News Service.)

Washington, Aug. 16.—The committee on public information on behalf of the war department today issued an official denial that American troops have been in action on the French front and that 200 have been taken to the base hospital wounded.

The report was published in the London Daily News today. The committee added it was authorized by the war department to state that if any such information should reach the war department it will be immediately announced.

In army circles it was believed the report that American soldiers were wounded in action might have originated from the transfer of sick soldiers to the hospital mentioned.

BRITISH GAIN ON WIDE FRONT IN THE YPRES SECTOR

Despite Stubborn Resistance Smash Their Way Forward, Says War Office

GROUND WON AT LENS IS HELD

Austrian Offensive Against Italians Meets With Disaster. Lille Threatened

(International News Service.)

London, Aug. 16.—Field Marshal Haig switched his assault from France to Belgium today, delivering powerful attacks against German positions east and north of Ypres. In spite of the stubborn resistance of the Germans the British made progress over a wide front, the war office announced. The fighting was very violent.

In the Lens sector, the Germans continued their counter attacks, assaulting the British lines at three different points. All of the German thrusts were repulsed. Not only is the German base position at Lens menaced by the latest British victory, but a big sector of the western front stretching from the Belgian frontier to the middle of the Arras zone is placed in jeopardy.

If the Germans are forced to evacuate Lens it means they lose their grip on the French coal fields and the industrial city of Lille, which they have held since Von Kluck's drive to ward Paris in the autumn of 1914.

(By Agency Radio to I. N. S.)

Rome, Aug. 16.—The repulse of Austro-Hungarian attacks by Italian artillery in the Vojec sector was reported by the war office today. Italian airmen are very active.

(By Agency Radio to I. N. S.)

Zurich, Aug. 16.—Count Czernin, the Austrian foreign minister, has arrived in Berlin from German headquarters on the western front, where he conferred with Dr. Michaelis, the German chancellor; Dr. Von Kuhlmann, the German foreign secretary, and a number of army chiefs.

(By Agency Radio to I. N. S.)

Paris, Aug. 16.—Thirty new divisions of German troops have been created since the beginning of Von Hindenburg's retreat on the western front, according to an article from the pen of a well-known military critic presented here today.

He intimated that the first three months of this year's campaign cost Germany at least 500,000 men.

RUSSIANS FIGHT BLOODIEST BATTLE

(By Agency Radio to I. N. S.)

Paris, Aug. 16.—The battle raging around Marasheshti on the Roumanian front is the bloodiest struggle that has ever been fought on Moldavian territory, according to information reaching Paris today.

Ten divisions of Teuton troops, part of them made up of Germans, attacked the Russo-Roumanians, but every onslaught was repulsed with enormous losses. The battle continues with incredible violence and it is expected to last for days before the final result is known.

It has developed that the Russians and Roumanians built up a strong line of defenses from Brody on the Galician frontier to the Moldavian Carpathians. The Austro-German forces were unable to break through them. French military experts express doubt if the Germans possess sufficient reserves to push their effort much further. It is hoped that discipline has again been restored in the Russian army and it will be able to stand firm and make counter attacks where necessary.

Red Cross Appeals for Vast Quantity of Knitted Articles for Use in France

Decatur Chapter Urged to Send 600 Each Sweaters Mufflers, Wristlets and Socks

A telegram calling upon the Decatur chapter of the Red Cross to furnish 2,400 knitted articles for the relief of sufferers in France, was received today by Mrs. W. E. Crawford, chairman. This telegram is similar, it is understood, to messages sent other chapters throughout the nation. In full it follows: "Mrs. W. E. Crawford, chairman, American Red Cross, Decatur, Ala."

"Red Cross has urgent call from Maj. Grayson Murphy for enormous quantity knitted woolen articles. Here is cablegram from Major Murphy: 'Last winter broke record for cold and misery among people here. Inexpressible dread coming winter finding us without supplies to meet situation. Urge you on behalf of our soldiers and those of our allies who will suffer in their frozen trenches and also thousands of French and Belgian refugees and repatriates being returned through Switzerland to France. Every one here looks to America. Begin shipping at once one million, five hundred thousand each of warm knitted woolen articles already requested. They must come before cold weather, and in view of shortage of fuel and other discomforts they will be of incredible value in both military and civilian work.'"

"We ask your chapter to furnish a definite number of these requirements. Your allotment is 600 sweaters, 600 mufflers, 600 pair wristlets, 600 pair socks. Full instructions will follow in two days. Ask your members to finish all knitted work now on hand and clear the decks for action. We want every chapter to have a chance to do its part in making good on this call for help from France. You are urged to place copy of foregoing part of this message including cablegram from Major Murphy in the hands of all newspapers with request to give publicity to this first call. Then get knitting committee together and have them lined up for rush job."

"W. J. LEPPERT, 'Director Gulf Division.'"

A telegram similar to the one to Mrs. Crawford was received by Rev. L. F. Goodwin, chairman of the Albany Red Cross. This reached the Daily after the message to Mrs. Crawford had been placed in type, and in wording is the same.

THE RED CROSS CALL FOR KNITTED ARTICLES.

In today's Daily is printed the call of the American Red Cross for knitted articles that are to be used in making things comfortable for the soldier boys in the trenches of France. The Red Cross, in its usual big way, does not ask for any niggardly contribution. The Decatur chapter alone is asked for 2,400 articles, and it can be taken for granted that other chapters have been called upon in a proportionate extent. Thus the work of the patriotic women who have volunteered to help America win the war and to alleviate suffering have their work cut out for them. They have something definite to do. Knitting socks and sweaters is not so romantic as nursing wounded soldiers back to life, but it is just as effective a way of serving the nation. It is not so inspiring or exciting as braving the dangers of the front, but it is a more practical way of doing a "bit" to aid the cause of democracy. The Decatur and Albany chapters can be depended on to "get into action" at once.

ALBANY DESIGNATED AS EXAMINING POINT.

Postmaster T. H. Alexander and W. G. Gentry of the civil service board, are to be congratulated on their success in having Albany designated as an examining point for stenographers who desire to enter the government employ. Under the old arrangement, these examinations were held at Birmingham, requiring applicants to make a long, tedious and unnecessary trip. Under the new order of things, these applicants can come to Albany at a greatly reduced cost and can also escape much personal inconvenience. As a matter of course, the holding of these examinations in Albany subjects the local civil service secretary to much additional work, and also affects the entire post office force in the same way. "The civil service examinations are held without additional cost to the government by a designated official now in the postal service, whose regular duties are temporarily assumed by his fellow workers. Compensation for this comes in the thought that the public has been rendered a genuine service, one that it should appreciate.

LONDON WELCOMES THE AMERICAN "SAMMIES."

The welcome extended to American soldiers who yesterday paraded the streets of London was one of the remarkable demonstrations of the war. King, cabinet and press joined in paying tribute to the soldiers of the republic, who were hailed by one of the leading newspapers as "Sons of the Pilgrims Returned to London." It was an affecting tribute, a spontaneous one, a significant one. It marks the removal of the misunderstanding and prejudice that has always existed between the "Mother Country" and her progressive daughter. It was a recognition not only of the aid rendered by the United States in the great fight against autocracy, but also of the common bond that binds together the English speaking peoples of the world—the only people who can rule without oppression.

The American press, omitting the pro-German organs, is unanimous in its declaration that peace negotiations at this time are impossible. The press also is united in its belief that Pope Benedict extended his good offices in the best of faith and with the purest motives.

It was a distinct compliment to the Fourth Alabama infantry to have been included in the second division of troops to be sent abroad. It is a matter of local pride that Company "E" is a part of the "Fighting Fourth." The boys from Morgan and adjoining counties will do their "bit" when they get into the trenches.

The British drive against Lens was the answer to the peace proposal. See!

ASSISTANT CASHIER BADLY FRIGHTENED

PUTS UP MIGHTY GOOD FIGHT AND COMES OUT ALL RIGHT.

Miss Elizabeth Hoffmann, 412 Eighth Avenue, South, Nashville, Tenn., assistant cashier of the Crystal Theatre, tells how, after a long, hard fought battle, she finally got relieved from the most severe spells of headache she declares anyone ever had to endure.

"I had tried everything I knew of," said she, "but could get no relief. It seemed as if my head would split open at times. It ached almost all the time—most of the time a dull, heavy ache. A friend of mine said it might be due to some liver trouble and if I would take Vin Hepatica I would be all right again, a very short while.

"I got a bottle at once, and I want to say that I am entirely relieved. Not only did it cleanse my system thoroughly, but toned me up, restored my appetite and I would strongly advise anyone feeling as I did to take Vin Hepatica. It has added fifty per cent to my efficiency."

Vin Hepatica is Nature's own medicine. It is Nature's own system purifier and tonic, made from the healing juices and curative properties from the best known medicinal herbs and roots of the woods and fields. It is a combination of eight of the most powerful herbal remedies known to medical science for those who suffer from indigestion, sour stomach, nervous trouble, kidney trouble, constipation or loss of appetite.

Once In the Limelight
Being Tales of Those Who Reached the Front Page and Then Dropped Back to Obscurity.

"PAWNEE BILL"

Some fifty odd years ago a canvas-covered "prairie schooner" arrived at Wellington, Kansas, with a family of three, one of whom was a boy of seven years. This boy was later destined to become one of the great pioneer figures of Oklahoma and a financial power of no mean calibre. The boy was Gordon W. Lillie.

Young Lillie grew up in an atmosphere of Indian raids and general unrest. He became proficient with rifle and revolver, and often accompanied his father on trips to the little known territory of Oklahoma. During these exploration tours he picked up various Indian dialects, which in later years stood him in good stead.

When the famous "Trapper Tom" decided to take an expedition into the Oklahoma bad lands, young Lillie joined the party. The object of the trip was to slay buffaloes and ship the meat to the contractors then building the Great Northwestern railroad.

The trip was successful from a financial standpoint, and many of the men of the party decided to settle in Oklahoma and make it their home. A small village was erected, and under the leadership of Trapper Tom the party secured some valuable holdings in the Cherokee Strip.

The Indian uprisings which Oklahoma passed through before it came to be considered a safe place to live were bloody and numerous. Gordon Lillie participated in many of these, and soon became a valuable government scout and official interpreter. He was well liked by the Pawnees, who took him into the tribe as an associate chief, and he soon became known as "Pawnee Bill."

At this time the cattlemen of the southwest swept up into Oklahoma from Texas, bent on battle. In those days a cattle ranch was maintained only by force of arms, and cowpunchers were selected for their ability to fight.

The Texas cattlemen were bent on defrauding the Pawnees out of valuable grazing ground, but were thwarted by Gordon Lillie and Major Frank North, "White Chief of the Pawnees." Soon after North died and Lillie became the "white chief." He ruled the Pawnees in a manner that proved wise and efficient. He taught them the value of farming and raising cattle and horses, and today the Pawnees are perhaps the largest Indian farmers in Oklahoma.

Where the ancient headquarters of the tribe stood, there is now a city called Pawnee City, and Major Gordon Lillie is the "big medicine." He is president of the local bank and owns a huge home ranch south of the city, where for a number of years he tried to raise buffalo for meat. This venture did not prove successful, and he began looking around for another means of making money.

It was then that he decided to organize a real wild west show. He gathered together a number of prominent figures of the old west and started on the road. From the first his show was a success, and as his only other rival at that time was Buffalo Bill, he became well known throughout the country.

In 1903 he joined forces with Buffalo Bill, and the two organized a much larger show, and for a time were highly successful. They then decided to make the traveling organization greater than anything which had ever before been attempted.

The show went to smash in Bayonne, N. J., in 1914, and Buffalo Bill and Pawnee Bill came to hot words which led to the parting of the ways. Buffalo Bill went back to Wyoming a broken, spirited old man, and his partner returned to Oklahoma seemingly serene as ever.

From that date, however, Pawnee Bill has kept out of the limelight. He is a solid citizen of Pawnee City, and has vast interests which take up most of his attention. He is the last picturesque figure of the old west, and the last of the old plainmen who formed the romantic circle of which Buffalo Bill was the leading spirit.

Today Gordon Lillie sits in his bank and centers his entire attention on making money, while his former partner rests in peace on the mountain crags overlooking Denver.

SOCIETY

Margaret Clinton Shelton, Phone 682, Albany

THE INNOCENT BYSTANDER.

We stood on the side lines and watched the thing started.
We didn't mix in, for it wasn't our fuss.

We were not afraid, or the least bit fainthearted.
The issues, we figured, meant nothing
to us.

But when the stray shots began flying around us

And one of the scrappers yelled,
"Out of the way!"

We cast off the neutral resolves that had bound us

And grimly, but cheerfully, mixed in the fray.

We didn't go in with a rush or a rush or a rattle,

Or thing we could settle the row
in a day,

We knew from the jump we were in
for a battle,

But bragging and bluster were never our way.

We're taking a course where the going
is steady;

It's been a long time since we've had a real fight;

We'll not try to start till we get good
and ready,

For when we go in, we are going in right.

It now is our row; though we didn't begin it,

Or help to begin it, it's ours just
the same;

We all are determined that now we are in it

We're going to stick till the end of the game.

Bloodshed is something we have no delight for,

But let Mr. Kaiser paste this in his hat:

"Peace is the one thing this country will fight for,

But we'll fight all our lives, if it need be, for that!"

clean, your system purified with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Eat what you please and go about your business—no danger.

CALLED HER FAMILY TO HER BEDSIDE

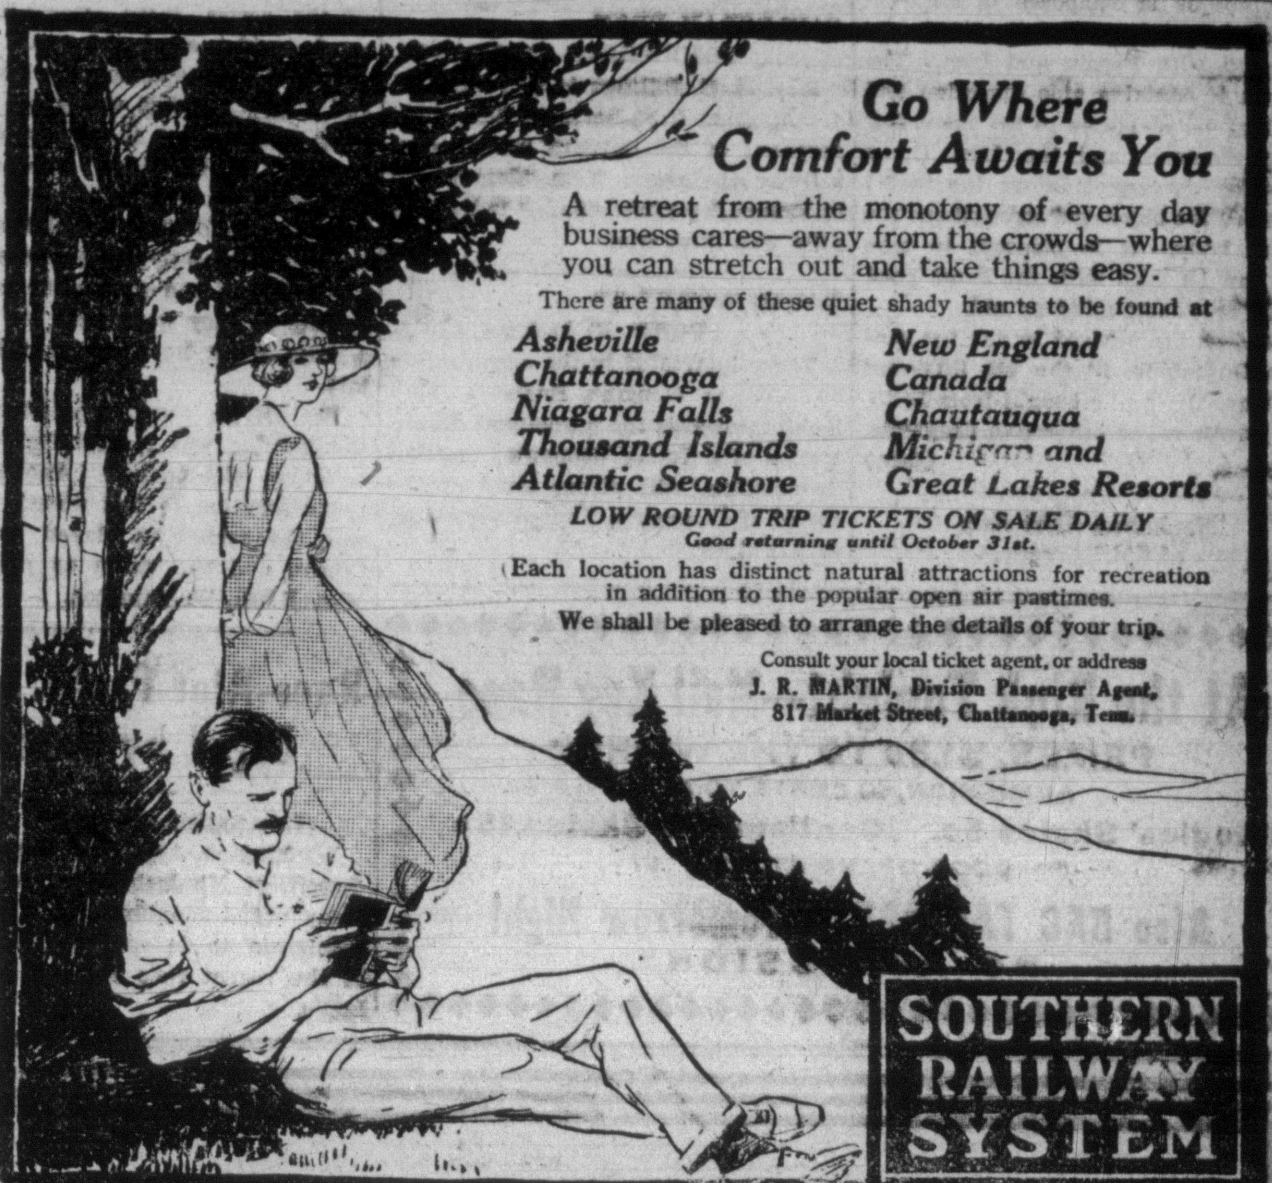

Six Years Ago, Thinking She Might Die, Says Texas Lady, But Now
She Is a Well, Strong Woman and Praises Cardui For Her Recovery.

Royse City, Tex.—Mrs. Mary Kilman, of this place, says: "After the birth of my little girl...my side commenced to hurt me. I had to go back to bed. We called the doctor. He treated me...but I got no better. I got worse and worse until the misery was unbearable...I was in bed for three months and suffered such agony that I was just drawn up in a knot...
I told my husband if he would get me a bottle of Cardui I would try it...
I commenced taking it, however, that evening I called my family about me...for I knew I could not last many days unless I had a change for advertising.

the better. That was six years ago and I am still here and am a well, strong woman, and I owe my life to Cardui. I had only taken half the bottle when I began to feel better.
The misery in my side got less... I
until I had taken three bottles and I did not need any more for I was well and never felt better in my life... I have never had any trouble from that day to this."

Do you suffer from headache, backache, pains in sides, or other discomforts, each month? Or do you feel weak, nervous and fagged-out? If so, give Cardui, the woman's tonic, a trial.

TWO NEW SCHOOL HOUSES FOR SOUTHERN PART OF THE COUNTY

Eva and Ryan's Cross Roads Committies Raise Three Thousand Dollars Each.

The citizens of the southern end of the county, nobly assisted by Supt. J. C. Tidwell, are accomplishing great things educationally.

At a school meeting at Eva yesterday the patrons subscribed $3,000 for the erection of a modern building. Five acres of land has been purchased for the school site and Wiley Stewart, J. R. Cleveland and Justice W. T. Frost, representing the school, were here yesterday having the proper deeds and abstracts made. They contemplate a school with eleven grades.

Equally great results are being secured at Ryans X Roads, where an up-to-date consolidated school is to be erected at once. The trustees of this school already have over $3,000 in cash in the bank ready to build their institution of learning. Tomorrow a great educational rally will be held at the Ryan school. Among the speakers will be J. M. Collier, principal of the county high school; A. B. Murphy, principal of the Falkville high school, and Geo. W. Stewart, principal of the Ryans X Roads school.

Hold Civil Service Exam for Carrier

The United States civil service commission has announced a competitive civil service examination to fill the position of rural carrier out from Hillsboro, to be held at Decatur. The examination will be held Sept. 8, and successful applicants will stand in line for other vacancies in Lawrence county.

That Summer Cold Is a Danger Signal

Look out for that summer cold. Don't try to "wear it out." It's a danger signal. Summer cold is now recognized as a sure sign of malaria; it means that you are weak and run down—that your body forces are exhausted. If neglected, it is apt to result in a long spell of "slow" fever or chills and fever.

If I had a summer cold, I'd commence treating it this very day with Quinotone, the wonderful new tonic treatment for summer cold and other forms of malaria. It relieves the cold in just a few days, and if taken afterward as a tonic it builds up the appetite, strengthens the entire system and restores health, "pep" and energy to a high degree.

Quinotone is composed of six vegetable ingredients in scientific combination with Pepsin and Iron. The Pepsin it contains aids digestion and renders it acceptable to the most delicate stomach, and the Iron (in a form which cannot injure the teeth) enriches the blood and strengthens the entire body. It is pleasant to take and can be used with the same good effect by young folks or old.

Readers are advised to ask for genuine Quinotone, in the big fifty-cent package. It can be bought from Dillehay Brothers, or other live druggists. (Adv.)

MUCH INTEREST BEING SHOWN IN UNION REVIVAL

DR. PERSINGER HEARD LAST NIGHT AT Y. M. C. A. IN FORCEFUL SERMON.

"If you don't have that disposition, you need to come to this altar yourself," concluded Dr. J. C. Persinger in the final appeal of his sermon at the central churches' open air revival now going on at the Y. M. C. A. The speaker had reference to any who had no desire to go out after non-professing Christians and seek to bring them to Christ.

"Religion is not to enjoy. It is to use. Suppose I should keep talking about how I enjoyed my health? As if that was all my health was for. I have not the time to enjoy religion. There are too many lost souls to be saved for that. In heaven I will have an endless eternity in which to enjoy religion. Singing is not religion; singing is not religion. I like to hear people shout if they have got anything to shout about. When you have gone out in this audience and brought some penitent soul to this altar, then you will have a right to shout."

Dr. Persinger said in effect that incidentally one who has religion will enjoy it and vice versa. He illustrated this thought thus: "Suppose you hear me always complaining that I do not enjoy good health; you would at once conclude that I did not have any health. The same is true as to religion. If you don't enjoy religion you have not got much."

Dr. Persinger's sermon was based on the last two verses of the 126th Psalm. "They that sow in tears shall reap in joy. He that goeth forth and weeping bearing precious seed, shall doubtless come again with rejoicing, bringing his sheaves with him."

At the altar service a large number came forward on invitation and shook hands with Dr. Mays and Dr. Persinger, pledging themselves for personal work. Also some came forward as desiring renewed grace.

Revival Spirit Manifest.

At last night's meeting, the third of the series, there was manifest much evidence of the true revival spirit. The attendance was increased and a new impetus was given to the song service by the presence and work of W. C. Miller, the singing evangel from St. Louis. Mr. Miller sang as a solo: "He Lifted Me," stating as he began to sing that the words of the hymn had a peculiar meaning to him as they were sung for him at a time when he knew that he was lost.

Mrs. F. G. Cook's contribution to the service was a beautiful solo of religious significance. Another valuable addition to last night's service was the cornet as played by David Gibson and the violin as played by Miss Edith Worthington.

NEW EMPEROR OF AUSTRIA HAS A PRESS AGENT

(By Karl H. Von Wiegand.) (International News Service Staff Correspondent.)

Mr. Von Wiegand has just returned after a long residence in Germany, Austria and other European countries, where his facilities for observation undoubtedly were the best accorded to any American newspaper man. —Editor.

New York, Aug. 16.—Emperor Charles Francis, the young ruler of Austria-Hungary, is setting the pace for peace in the central empires. Every since the Russian revolution he has taken the reins in hand for separate or general peace, and Germany has been compelled to follow. The center of negotiations with Russia has been Vienna, not Berlin, as generally supposed. He has shown and is continuing to show an independence of Berlin in putting his own views through that has been rather surprising to the Germans.

Raised and educated in somewhat different circumstances from the usual bringing up of heirs to great thrones, his first governess an Irish girl, Bridget Cary; his first tutor a young student who was an orphan, young Charles is quite progressive and modern in many of his views. He uses up-to-date methods. He has an eye to popularity, an ambition to be a successful ruler, and believes in judicious "publicity." To show that he has learned a few things, it can be said that he is the only ruler in the world—monarchical or republican—who has an officially designated "press agent" attached to his personal suite.

Charles believes in letting the Austrians, the Hungarians and the ten other nationalities which make up his empire know what he is doing. He also believes in knowing what they are doing, thinking, saying and what they want.

Imperial Press Agent.

For this purpose he has attached to his personal suite a "publicity agent" in the person of Captain Werkman, a young company commander whom he met on the Italian front and to whom he took a fancy. Werkman was educated and trained for the army, but resigned as lieutenant to become a newspaper man. He joined the staff of the "Die Zeit" (The Times), of Vienna, on which he worked for several years. At the outbreak of the war Werkman, as an officer of the reserves, rejoined the army. He was given a company and fought through several campaigns.

Very soon after succeeding to the throne, the young Emperor decided that he must get into closer contact with his peoples. Very wisely he came to the conclusion the best and only way to do that, would be through the press of his country, or rather of his several countries; and in order to accomplish that, have some one who was or had been a newspaper man and who knew both the press and the people.

Emperor Charles has done a number of things wholly unexpected and some rather startling to his peoples. This penchant for sudden decisions and immediate action has earned for him the sobriquet of "Karl der Plotzliche," or "Charles the Sudden."

The young emperor sent for Werkman, who was at the Italian front, and explained his ideas to him. He attached the newspaper man to his personal suite with the official title of "Press Adjutant," or "Press Aide-de-Camp."

Travels With Ruler.

Captain Werkman reports directly to the emperor himself. He accompanies Charles wherever he goes. There is always a special train with steam up, ready for the emperor at all hours. When the emperor goes to the front in an automobile, his "press aide-de-campe" either is in the car with him or in the car immediately behind that of the young emperor. During a trip to the front this spring, the second motor car, in which was Werkman, went into the ditch. The "press aide-de-camp" sustained a fracture of two ribs.

Captain Werkman is the direct link of intermediary between the emperor and the Austrian-Hungarian newspaper men. He accompanies the emperor everywhere, gives out to the press such official communications as are to be published and, aside from that, tells the newspaper men many little interesting details and incidents about the emperor's doings, which bring the personality, aims and activity of the latter closer to his people.

The "press aide-de-camp" makes daily reports to the emperor upon the press utterances not only in Austria-Hungary, but in Germany and in the foreign press so far as they have a bearing upon the dual monarchy.

There is a department in the ministry of war which reads and clips all newspapers. An emperor, like a president of the United States, is a busy man, and has not the time to read the entire press of the world. The clipping department of the ministry of war sends all clippings to the emperor's "press aide-de-camp." The latter is a "check" upon the ministry of war to see that the emperor is kept properly informed, and brings to the latter's attention such news items and editorial utterances as would be of interest to him.

Monarch Reads Papers.

But, not even satisfied with that, young Charles may often be seen stopping his automobile at a little news stand on Maria Hilferstrasse, when on his way from the Hofburg, as the palace in the city is known, to his summer palace at Schoepbrunn in the suburbs. He buys all the Vienna and Budapest papers, and is especially particular to see he gets the "Arbeiter Zeitung," or "Workingmen's Gazette," the leading Austrian socialist organ.

Francis Joseph, the old emperor, was an almost incredible martinet for etiquette and ceremonial formality. Even the barber who came every morning at 6 o'clock to shave the emperor had to appear in full evening dress with immaculate shirt front and clawhammer coat. Baron Schiesel, who read the daily reports from the various ministries to the emperor at 10 o'clock every morning, had to be dressed likewise.

Bans Stiff Formality.

Young Charles' first action was to rescind this order. One may be received in cutaway or Prince Albert coat. He then appointed a "press aide-de-camp." Next he broke all Hapsburg traditions and the rigid Spanish ceremonial and etiquette by personally receiving newspaper men.

Werkman is a man of thirty-eight years, tall, straight, with rather round sympathetic face, and the polished, courteous manners of the Austrian cavalier. He has a room or office on the top floor of the "Hofburg," or imperial palace, in Vienna. It is located on the "Fraulein Gang," or the "Misses" or "Mademoiselle Corridor," so called because the rooms of some of the young women employed in the palace are located on that corridor. "Fraulein" in German is for "Miss." Werkman is an enthusiastic and skilled amateur photographer and makes numerous snapshots when out with the emperor.

Young Charles has the ambition of wanting to be a democrat, popular and successful ruler. His experiment with a "press aide-de-camp" to inform the public regarding himself and keep informed about press and people of his countries, will undoubtedly be watched with interest by other sovereigns.
